Foreward

This is a disclaimer for a journal I am about to write about my life. from as far back as I can remember, birth up until now. I have experienced life and this will be all those experiences to the best of my knowledge and true. (I am not the best writer, so expect free flowing thoughts. After I write everything I can remember, I will then continue to journal my daily life. I am not sure if anyone would care but incase I get old here and am not able to recall because life... Also the names of the actual people will be ~~nicknamed~~ aliased. All this information is to stay inside of this journal!

1991... born to biological mother lets name her Yuliana. I do not remember much at all as a baby or 1, 2, 3, or 4 is mostly a blur. There are a few memories from pre-k. That room smells like peaches & cream oatmeal packs. That is the main dish of my life at that time. Also there were a few memories of the church on the road of the house I grew up in. Let's call that place the orphanage. Foreshadow, I was adopted to the the owners of the orphange during this young pre-k time. (Yuliana is and was a gypsy) Biological Father who was completely inexistent during these years did not show until teenage years. That's a story for later, lets call him Jupiter.

After pre-k, I start to have more memories. ~~first grade~~ Kindergarten, I remember my teachers and only a few class mates. I also remember some embarassing moments, I rather not say 💩. There was a bully who would terroize me but one day I finally ~~tripped~~ him on the playground and that was the end of that. I also remember the one girl who brought a snake to show and tell. The home front is very much blank, but there are photos of me during these years but I do not know where these photos are only. And there was one teacher who drove a maroon mustang that I have fond memories of how nice she is.

~~By now it's 1996 approximately.~~ 2nd grade I only have a couple memories from school. Not much from however the memory front. I remember learning to write in class for the first time, it was tough. The teacher was a grandparent of one of the ~~students~~ in the class and I went to his birthday party that year at the local pizza hut. From there third grade the teacher and her daughter is a vivid memory. Also the girl from ~~first~~ kindergarten was also in this class. Then there is a sweet girl who I were head over hills interested because she is pretty and quiet. Then another girl I made fun of me because I supposedly had what the culture around there calls jungle fever. She is also cute so I ignore and play it as cool as I can hoping no one notices. I get casted in the school play as a literal yellow star.

Yolieana shows up to ~~the~~ the ~~school lunch~~ play held in the lunch room. Also I had to practice during lunch for my lines cause I could not remember, finally cured my stage fright. I were chosen often to put the flag on the flagpole. The trouble started next during fourth grade. Getting in trouble for missed homework assignments became a casual thing. The entire class would chase one kid on the playground who always wore white jeans.

I got a few things from the book fair then. Not much significa to remember at the orphanage. To describe this place, I call it the orphanage because there was not actually a room dedicated to me. When Yuliana would be around she would sleep in the same room. Fifth grade began to be tough, looking back I think it was ~~tought~~ the smoking and drinking constantly around while I was young and not much leadership other than the standard go to church. Rewind ~~to~~ back to fourth grade, this was also the time when there was a pledge of allegiance and 9/11 happened. I remember the bully #1 & 2 who would chase me on the playground and the final time the teacher stopped him one day. There were field days at the end of 1, 2, 3, 4, 5th grades that I remember these times being quiet peaceful and insignificant. There in fourth grade I had a really cool friend that we would trade drawn pictures of anime charecters. Since the girl with blue eyes in third grade didn't work I thought I would give dating a try once more. I asked one girl in fourth grade to be my gf in a little note. She said yes for 2 days then sent a breakup letter. Learning my times tables was so difficult. I think it was my horrible diet, and exposure to indoor smoke and drinking alot. Also during these times is where I received abuse for my glasses and stammering.

Fifth grade was an odd experience. I remember getting much better at English and learning postal addresses. There was a girl who would cheat so badly in that class I wanted to get as far away from her as possible. It was tough to get those scholastic points for those books. There were classmates who would get tons of points. I believe they had internet. Speaking of, I were not able to get internet until 7th grade at the orphanage. During 6th grade there were a few memories from summer at the orphanage, having to do gardening, landscaping, and tons of chores on the weekends or else.... (breathing)

Sixth grade is when the class schedule changed. I liked my reading teacher, really sweet lady. I began to feel distance from my classmates as if I were not one of them. Also began to feel out of place at the orphanage. Didn't really feel normal there, just sort of ignored the reality because my mind were elsewhere. Seventh grade was a real eye opener. I went out for football and I just didn't really fit the mold. Too slow and small. But I continued to go. I had started band in sixth grade playing the trombone. I should have saved my money and time. By this time I have a few memories of riding the school bus and sometimes car rides to school. Seventh grade was insignificant other then I got my first hand job by a girl on the school bus. Then there were two girls that would call me on the phone. At first I were not intersted in either of them. (supposedly related to one of them.) That ended then off to ~~eighth~~ eighth grade, but here's the kicker. Yuliana shows up and takes me and her other child to Kansas. Elwood. Kansas to be exact. (I do not mean to be rude when I talk about anyone from my past but I have moved on from those times and it's better I write it that way. Where was I? Oh, Kansas!

Mo Tu We Th Fr Sa Su

Memo No.
Date / /

The first few moments of Kansas were pretty awesome. I met a girl, lets name her Aspasia. The first time we hung out before school started she let me get close with her and I barely knew her. Then school started and there were so many cool students. I felt like there were actually friendly people in this grade. I knew all my classmates and everyone was/is friends. (Apologies for my handwriting) Flashback to 6th and 7th, during the summers being shipped off to church functions and having to spend time around so called relatives was insignificant to me. There was not much out of the ordinary but very boring and very country.

Mo Tu We Th Fr Sa Su

Memo No.

Back to Kansas, I play football and basketball. Also track, and I get to hangout with some of the hottest girls in the class. I didn't need to feel special but that sure did. Also the advanced English class I learned about a tale of two cities. Yulvana had brought us to Kansas during the previous spring break and that was a weird spring break. Let's just say a man came on to me but nothing physical happened. First gay experience. Eighth grade happened, I dated another girl but only for a short time. I had many friends, so all in all Kansas is a great place. Then ninth grade back to the orphanage. When I got back most of the classmates there seem to have gotten a growth spurt. There are different kinds of girls than I'm used to interested in getting to know one which I don't actually like. I decide to be nice and open minded and the first one cheated on me with a relative is what I were told and she admitted. School is going okay high school was not that hard but it was not easy by any means. This is around the time where I smoke pot for the first time. It was okay but nothing special. Students were wild where I grew up. It was a major setback. 9th grade seem like it took a really long time. 10th grade was ok, kinda the same as 9th grade but the socials are really starting to open up with classmates. There are tons of people who will make fun of you for whatever odd reason. I talked to one girl that were interested in me but I could only see her as an easy lay. Also, I remember the end of the year trip for band and that's when I made two friends that I shall never forget. They came to visit me in university. That was 9th grade but the following year & 11th grade was when I had a relationship with one of the girls from 10th grade that would call me. I tried to be a gentleman and I did nice things and so on so forth. But I did not see this going past high school. Outside of school I have lots of outdoor chores and stuff indoors. It's like me and the half sibling are the only ones that do any chores is what it felt like. The girl and I dated until the fall of my senior year. Then it ended because I started to become interested in a girl from Pennsylvania. I also scored a touchdown as a WR during 10th grade. At the end of that year I received a trophy for the most improved offensive player award. I probably should have started to write this long ago after high school to be more accurate but hey better now than when I'm too old to remember. During 11th grade I also received an award for class favorite. When I write this all down it doesn't seem so bad, but living through this was some crazy times. During the fall of my senior year my biological father Jupiter had been introduced to me. He was pretty shy at the time and offered to help me find my way in life. I accepted against the wishes of other relatives who don't actually understand but they know things that I do not about the relationship of my birth... well you know. Anywho, I moved out using the vehicle Jupiter loaned me, I was supposed to pay for it but I really didn't have any other income besides what Jupiter gave to me for working at the office. I stayed with some of my classmates during the last few months of highschool and that's when the partying began. It was fun to go to the local strip clubs because they did not ID. I managed to keep perfect attendance all four years despite the craziness. I also managed to score a 21 on the ACT, low I know but I got in the University of Southern Mississippi. I was done with highschool and on my way to finding a soulmate and career. Easier said than done. I did go to class not as often as I should have, I partied a lot. So much so that it was natural to party Monday through Sunday. My grades dropped as a result of too much party and not enough of taking care of myself or studying to pass. Freshman year was a blur but the year after I met what I like to believe was the closest I will find to my son/mate. Magdalena was/is one of the most sweet and kind relationships I've ever been in. Even through the harassment from relatives about my attraction to caucasian females, Magdalena was there while I were going through that. When the lights in my ~~townhouse~~ went out and I barely had money and she stayed but I thought it would be best to take a step back from ~~dddi~~ the relationship so that she and I could grow and come back later thats when I learned that you should not look back. Only forward progress. That was a tough time in life. Jupiter had me diagnosed at a behavioral center. I continued with university. I dated a few girls after that, then the weight of my student loans made it difficult to continue. I moved to Denver, Colorado in May of 2015. By this time I had lost three amazing friends to death. From after I moved out in high school up to 2015 I partied and by then I were deep into the party scene.

Mo Tu We Th Fr Sa Su

My mindset was to make a good life even through the party, my and wild times. Around sophmore year I went to Las Vegas for EDC, it was the first Las Vegas EDC. It was amazing to finally be out on my own. However in Denver, I slowed down. I had fun and also became a certified dental assistant. Friends from university came to visit me and I lived with a couple of them. I met a foreign (Belgium) girl and had a short affair. Then after I met (Ade), who is a super intelligent girl from Pennsylvania. She reminded me so much of my self. But her relatives after finding out about us canceled our relationship. During these times my student loans were rising w/ interest but I wanted to gain a place of my own and a stable career that I forgot to manage those. Reasons I needed someone to help me through this. University is tough as it is, I should have managed better w/ less partying. I probably could have gotten further. I snowboarded for the first time in Denver @ A basin. During university I got arrested twice. Once for a traffic citation warrant and then once for possession. Those were two times where I were just too careless about those around me and ill will towards my lifestyle. Come to find out MS does not really like careless hippies. I think its called hippie sabotage. Anyhow after Denver I wanted to finish my degree so I set off back to the place where I did not want to be to obtain a degree I could not afford. After being told I could continue, then ~~after~~ a month later being told that was a mistake and I could not continue because my loans defaulted things ~~got got~~ crazy. I were around 26, and I'm dealing with two biological parents that do not want anything to do with each other. ~~one~~ I finally had broken through the veil of smiles and friendly faces. I wanted to hurt myself for the first time and hurt others. I was tired of ignoring the pain and the drugs and alcohol was never enough, I had gotten ~~to~~ to the end. Things got out of hand as I walked several countries and took a train to a county an hour away from where I grew up. I checked into a ~~hospp~~ hospital because these thoughts of homicide did not sit well with my happy ~~demeanor~~ demeanor. Then after the ~~hospo~~ hospital I were walking through a parking lot and there was a car that I got next too. I opened the door then tossed the hospital bag into the car and as I walked away there were some passerbys that called the police. I were arrested and charged w/ a crime that I did not commit. Meanwhile Yuliana were distant and Jupiter attempted to help but I ended up serving the time and probation. That was where I drew the line. I were done w/ those two but I needed a fresh start. Unfortunately, I do not

Nothing major, but then a relative offered to let me move to Texas. Seemed like more (resources) there so I decided to go. My mind was unstable and depressed. I was fatigued from drugs, jail and humans. I really needed to get my life under control. Nothing was going to help except a fresh start. Texas was the same decisions as MS. No one really wanted to help. Seems as if the world was waiting for me to take life by the balls and throw the touchdown. I got my first corporate job in 2018.

and I messed that up. Being mentally unstable, that was tough because Texas was a weird time and not much there for me. The substance abuse and psycological issues did not help. I sought treatment by a licensed therapist and thats where I came to the conclusion that I should take the creditor offer get a car and that would help me get to freedom from what felt like oppression and bigotry. Wrong decision I ended up leaving the state of Texas on a road trip and I were not to leave according to my probation. This road trip was the ultimate crazy. I ventured from Texas to Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Nevada, California

Oregon, Seattle, Washington, and Idaho. There are so many stories that happened there. So many people came to my aide when I were feeling crazy and they all told me the same thing. "I should go back to MS and complete the probation." After dumping all the trauma through sessions with the psychologist at the places that helped, I started driving back. Once I am in Wyoming, I get pulled over for speeding and then am transported to the place I don't want to be. After a few months the officers agree to let me complete the probation. I am released and start working for Jupiter around 2019 at the end. ~~It's~~ MS is worse than it was when I was young. Mind you Jupiter told me I could stay at a homeless shelter. I understand that I am no longer welcome there but w/o any resources he recommended I stay at the orphanage. One year at the orphange and by 2020 Juliana's other child had welcomed me to stay in Vegas. I took the invitation but after a few months ~~that~~ in Vegas and ~~it~~ aviation school not working out they asked me to leave. But I had met a girl, the sweetest most kind I have come across and she found me a place with a church friend. Through all these events, is when Christ really revealed himself to me.

As a ~~kid~~ child at the church up the road from the orphanage I did not feel the connection. Then when I met Jupiter the nondenominational church was better but not fulfilling as I had a terrible time staying awake during service. In Dexter, I went to a nondenominational church and it felt great, I was welcomed with open arms. Also being on my own felt great. Then in Texas I went to Gateway nondenominational and I could start to feel the calling to Christ but I were too distracted. Then when I came to Las Vegas my life changed. I could hear Christ loud and clear. He called me to be baptized along side the girl

Also in Texas, I went to a church of Christ. Extreme nice people!

I met. The church friend let me stay for three months. By the third month I had finally saved enough to go out on my own. I rented several airbnb's and my connection to Christ prospered. I designed a plan with Christ to pay off all my debt. Cause it all started to add up. I was not going to make the life I want happen without Christ and becoming debt free. While living with the church friend, one day I went for a walk. I climbed a foothill and sat there crying and reading scripture asking God what to do to make the depression, the debt, and sadness go away. He answered through scripture and then I listened to music. Christian music had become my favorite kind of music. So on my walk by the trail which I had subconsciously chosen a different part of the trail to walk back on. I found a corn. A decent corn I liked to call this corn the corn that Christ delivered to me from God. And ever since then I have been climbing out of poverty and doing the best I can. There are a many of stories both humble and crazy that I have left out but I may elaborate later. Plus my hand hurts. Like the time I was hoaxed into driving a truck and wrecked, or the time in Colorado where I was in Grand Lake at a cabin in a spot where lots of famous and rich hangout. In August of 2021 I went completly sober. No drugs, alcohol or harmful substances. I have not looked back since. It was the best decision that I have made. I constently eat healthy. My debt was over 73K, and now, its down 2years later to 62K. It has been a struggle. There has been tough times and good times. During this time I left all ~~family~~ relatives and friends behind. So this first part of this journal is just a brief overview w/out too much detail of my life. I am single now and have been since 2021, but there was a short lived friendship ~~from~~ for a few months (distance) I will continue to write down the memories that deserve to be described in detail. But I would also like to talk about the future. The future will be promising. This walk with Christ has opened my eyes to things I would have never payed attention too.

I just bought this journal and its Thanksgiving 2023. ~~There are a few things I would like to clarify.~~

11/25/2023 8:30AM

Today was odd, to start, I woke up and the toilet clogged and I felt so much anger about a minor inconvenience. I listened to christian music and heard some of my favorite voices and I think the rest of day will be better. Especially when someone can fix whats clogging the toilet. Now I thinking about all the short explanations that I have written in this ~~book.~~ journal. I may need someone to read and ask me where to elaborate or I possibly could. But it was tough just getting that on paper. It was almost sickening to think about those things again. I tried to keep it light and not so harsh. But there is a part of me that really wants to explain the hardship of the ~~st~~things. However, moving on I will write whenever I feel like or think I should write events in my life. But for now I think I should run to the father for guidance. Life is tough and it comes at you fast. Bye for now! ^.^

Mo Tu We Th Fr Sa Su

11/25/2023 5:37pm

Decided to write again. Work went on as ~~usual~~ usual today. Still poor. Hehe However I thought about the past again. I know I should let go. I want to let go.

Mo Tu We Th Fr Sa Su

However I need to write what has happened and what is happening. For science and safety of course. So I were at the bank and I were reminded of the time I had to call to Renaissance bank and then go there to get my information removed because one of the figures at the orphanage used my name for bank accounts. Oddly enough, the Bank was/is located a block down the road from the police department of Rankin cty. I once were detained when I were around the age of eight before the truck got wrecked Both events (detained & truck) were the doings of Yuliana's other child. Detainment happened because the child stole two pair of glasses and I saw as I walked by but had no idea at first. I knew that the child liked to steal but at the mall is an entirely different ball game. I suspected the child was stealing but I walked off as to pretend I did not see. And as myself, the child, and one of the figures go to leave Belk's. BOOM! It sucked having to go through that. Being tortured as if you're a horrible person and it had nothing to do with you. Besides that it looked like the items were being stolen. Then shortly after things return to normal. You think staying in your room would help or repel but what about not being able to consistently keep others out.

The door opens, the keys ~~jingle~~ jingle. "Want to drive? I've already been. No one's here." Summary of what ~~he~~ was said. My idiot cake response "Sure." A response that I have had to munch on since that day. Shortly thereafter I go too fast up the dirt road & gravel and totaled out the truck. Well darn! I attempt to overturn the vehicle from its side. Later on the insurance handles the issue and its the first time I do not get a beating, ~~last~~ and the last time I am ever involved in trouble w/ the orphange. Well bye for now! TTYL. 11/26/2023 6:38 am Morning, the pen that came with this journal seems to be done, Just my luck. Also the information above was written with my left hand can't you tell. However it's Sunday and I need to make over a thousand dollars this week or this week and the week after possibly will not go as planned. Anywho, I don't think I have explained how crazy this battle with the debt collector has gotten. I have had to work some suicidal hours just to make ends meet. And I think the entity is catching on. So I really need to get after it. I have tried to obtain better or more lucrative work positions and it just never worked. (Odd) So now I focus on one course of income and it sucks but I am attempting to get as much as I can out of it. It is safe to say that everything here is not quite what it seems. (Talking about American society.) I do not belive I should be in this universe. I feel as though I were stolen from the cauldron of Christ. Here to soon but never on time. These are the thoughts that I cannot talk to anyone about for fear of being taken advantage of or worse being pegged as mentally ill. Mentally I am as okay as I'll ever be, but society is different when it comes to judging others. At this time I do not feel like elaborating on the past so I will talk later about that. For now just getting my thoughts, the good, the bad, and the wicked out on paper is therapeutic. It's like I can now let it go and clear space in my consciousness for clean new memories! Well, Vi ses! Good day!

Ugh so I decided to proofread and I may have been in a rush when summarizing my life. However there's still more time and paper left. This week is crunch time. I missed 5 days of work to figure out the business license situation and now I need to make over 155 a day for the next 8 days or things will be much tougher. It sucks not having a savings. I remember seeing Nancy Reagan recorded segment on tele saying "just say no" to drugs. I honestly do not believe I would have ever made it mentally without some of the substances. But is she right? I don't know. The drugs opened to eyes to what kind of humans are around this world. Humans in ceotain places of the world alienate drinkers, drug users and those that are not considered their favorite. But that's a complicated storyline. However my experience showed me the lengths that some humans will go to, To me life is an experience. Each human will have to complete this experience until their due date. So why provide hard times? Anywho this is not the main point of me writing now. I wanted to clarify a few things. ~~But I have forgotten~~ When I were in 8th grade and had moved out, during that time I had several pretty cool friends. I also met a girlfriend that showed me I have the ability to be with whoever I chose, we had such fun times. I remember one late night her and I and a friend tosed a Coca Cola Can at an elementary school. The more and more I write the more I don't understand why things are so difficult where I grew up. I guess I am too lighthearted and also I ~~was~~ think I should move on and stop trying to iron out the wrinkled past. However the environment there compared to ~~here~~ now is two completely different worlds. Probably why most of what I am writing about does not make since. I should have been writing and recording then because I want to make sense of the hard times but it seems to me there is not much of an explanation. If I were born elsewhere this would be a totally different storyline. I should pause and come back ~~later~~ when I have something to ~~talk~~ write about.

P.S. I can remember I left out several fights that happened. Also I have every person that I've ever been involved with intimate or personal written down. I should probably write down friend list and stranger list. 11/27/2023 5:28am
At the moment I realized I sound kind of delirious from such a long time of trauma. Well yes, delirium set in at about 22ish and I guess we are now one in the same. Not much to talk about at the moment. I need to get

11-30-2023 6:28am Today I want to ~~talk~~ write about translocal repression. So I used to recieve tons of calls from debt collectors. But first, There is no offical definition but I am here to explain. It is a feeling I've felt and should be considered illegal. I have felt stalked, to the point where I thought I were being harrassed. I have been hacked for bitcoin. And I feel like those were all attempts to force/coerce me to go back to MS. I could never tell if it were the debt collector spying on me or if my birth parents had hired some sort of private investigator. However, I have remained strong M

Christ and in ~~not~~ oneness with nature. I believe this should be labeled as translocal repression. Here in Las Vegas is not the only time I have felt this unexplainable feeling. Which is why I rather turn off all feelings and go throughout my day being numb to it all. Of course this could halt good feelings but it would be better than the anxiety and chronic depression. Update! I changed my student loan plan to the Save plan. this ought to stop or at least slow down the interest rape. I also belive there will be relief soon enough. I just have a carnal instinct that it will change. Ya Know, I think the correct phrase would probably be interlocal repression.

I guess thats all for today. I just want to clarify that my history does not make much sense. I left out things that could help anyone else understand, but I have a hard time re-reading this time of my life. It was a painful time and I were in not the best shape to deal with it all. But if anyone happens to read this feel free to ask me questions or not especially if I have moved to the afterlife. Anywho, Vi ses! P.S.: Jeg lærer norsk og vil lære å skrive på norsk. Mye kjærlighetsunivers!. 12-02-23 8:54 P.M. Tonight there seems to be a need to clarify a time in highschool where my life was almost taken from me. During the beginning of spring semester in ~~brigt~~ 11th grade. One girl who I conversed over the phone with, who may or may not be related to me was walking through the commons also known as the lunch room. On impulse I asked her for her number. She wrote the number. I later called the evening after school. That began the friendship. A few weeks later began a relationship. Then the summer happened and it was the first time for intercourse. I borrowed a vehicle (convey) from the relatives of the orphanage. We spent time on the backroads only a few odd times and things went smooth. Then came the football season when she called and told me she had a miscarriage. After that things felt too serious so I started talking to another girl. I needed to focus on something else because the relationship became careless. There was a ~~few~~ couple times where protection was used and a couple times where ~~we~~ brutually consent to

So the girl I was dating let me borrow her phone because my phone broke, then she found photos of the new girl. Without a fight or hesitation the relationship was called off. The last time intercourse happend was before (sept) her birthday in October. After her birthday the relationship was done. Shortly after I moved out of the orphanage and lived with classmates. Awkward enough the ex and I had the same computer class. No words were exchanged during the spring semester. I went off to uni and we did not talk. I know what happened the last few times of intercourse and I never let myself ejaculate in her ever. I made up random jokes to distract myself because I don't know if she ever cheated. I couldn't prove it so I decided its best not to make excuses for what I did was/is wrong. I donot think I ever want to talk about this again. It makes me feel sick. Also I feel dead, like I am going through the motions of life but for what? I have a list of goals, but are the goals worth it. I do not feel as though there is enough distance between myself and the hard times of the past. I know I do not want to relive the hard times but the sweet times like hanging out with friends and living at the house with classmates who seemed to care the best that they could. 12-09-2023 12.08pm - So this week has been full of new experiences. A tragedy happened at UNLV on Tuesday. Anywho it's the week of cowboy christmas which started on the 7th. The pobus showed up and blocked traffic to the airport. However I am still dealing with some of the same issues. Life is not bad but it isn't as great as it could be. I ~~regularly~~ regularly think about all I have written in this journal so far and there's so much I want to clarify. If only there was a device that I could link all my memories too from birth up until now. Then it would make more sense. It would probably help me answer more questions especially if I could see what was true and what was not true. I am waiting for Amazon to deliver groceries

I think the roommate may have saw my diet food which is upsetting because those who saw the other options of diet food the price went up and I can not afford that one and the other is sold out now. That sounds crazy but it's just a weird pattern that I wish didn't exist. In other news I am about to go to the dermatologist to finally get the skincare I need. Also I have scheduled a dentist appointment so I can fix my tooth and breath. If I found a urologist that I think may be able to accept my insurance so I can get circumcised. Finally! My penis has always been hypersensitive. I narrowed it down to circumcise, stress, depression. If it is not those then the problem may be more sensitive.

At the time I were dodging bullies ~~and~~ at school and at the orphanage. It brought tears to my eyes that I ~~didn't~~ did not receive study assistance until sixth grade. There are probably things I could have done to improve ~~not~~ like not be so fascinated with ~~of~~ cartoons and girls. But there was not much of anyone coaching me through these times. changing it. Growing up below the poverty line is something I would not ever want to experience throughout eternity. The caretakers were poor and I was for sure poor therefore the poor decisions just seemed like normal. Until it was not. But I have to get off this soapbox, it's getting me sad. On a brighter note, I am getting dermatologist prescription provided antibiotic to get the xerosis and folliculitis off my face. I think this happened over the years after having played football and the chinstraps have been used a multitude of times. The scarring and dryness is directly in those areas. The rest of my skin is fairly ok besides the dark spots but I am treating those with Cerave and it makes my skin much healthier. I also have an appointment

I need to rid my life of. But its not that simple. I want to expunge my record but it is so difficult. The records department of those offices can simply say that it's no longer there even though I have the information from the FBI. I can not force them to find it so I will do my best to get as much removed as possible. I need to stop obsessing because there is many other things that I need to handle. Priorities are tough but there is something else I want to talk about here and only here as it does not make sense. I have a conspiracy theory going on in my life. The only girl to have a miscarriage that I dated is involved but ~~unbeknownst~~ unbeknownst to her conscious if I am correct. The troubles that follow me have been using that occurence as a grounds to provide more hard times like all the debt, jail time, and general chronic depression. If I connect all the dots that's what it appears to be. Also I found hundreds of data brokers with my personal inforation. This can be used for identity theft, loan denial, denial of residence, affect my credit score, track my location and the list goes on. I have also found AI program that will send/has sent request for removal but I have to make sure I reach them all. I need to become more secure and block those companies from obtaining my data. Reading the list of things they could do with this information has given me a mentally sickening thought. Those kinds of companies I must stay away. I fear that America may not be as safe as I thought I could make it. Around every corner is another issue of oppression. I will stay for as long as I can to ensure that if I am to move to another country, I will be able to do so without such trouble aiding me without permission. There's now a journal app on iphone. It ask questions like what went well for me this week and things of that nature. I will start to use those questions when I journal. Tomorrow I am to give a testimony at my baptism in the Mormon Church of Christ of the Latter day Saints. So I will write the testimony here and read it aloud during the testimony. But before I start to write, I went to state my reasoning for being baptized at the Mormon Church. I am on a journey with Christ and it has come upon me to explore religion. I have been doing so and discovering the Mormon church feels like a home. Since reading the book of Mormon, my spirit and body could sense the change of my relationship with Christ. I would go deeper but that feeling leads me to believe that I should join, and so here is my testimony.

Testimony for 08-24-2024 baptism

I would like to begin by thanking everyone in attendance. Your attendance is very much appreciated. I wrote this testimony in my journal where I have written my life's journey also. and a variety of other situations. I stand before you a tested by trial/error believer of Christ Jesus. If someone told me that I would stand before a congregation of humans and give my testimony I would not have been able to envision that future. I would not have seen the future of ~~all the~~ having to let go of my childhood. But when I began to study Mormon, the way of the future has become clear. 1 Nephi ch. 8 verse 11 says "and it came to pass that I did go forth and partake of the fruit thereof; and I beheld that it was most sweet, above all that I ever before tasted. Yea, and I beheld that the fruit thereof was white, to exceed all the whiteness that I had ever seen.

Then Years ~~later I met a~~ later I met a girl who invited me to a ~~church~~ service and there a minister during his ~~prev~~ message stated that sometimes on your journey you may have to go on your own way to rid myself of the resentment and frustration I were experiencing. ~~Plus the hurt I bit of that fruit~~

~~Twice now and~~ Each time that I have seen a vision that Christ would provide, he has definitely provided and I cannot fathom how grateful I am eventhough it is tough explaining my position in the world. I say these words in the name of Jesus Christ. Amen

However in this covenant I would also ask the Eternal Father of Heaven to fill my life with blessings and fix my finances so that I may provide for the companion and myself plus one day have children. That I am able to teach the children love of Jesus Christ so they may experience Gods most joyous love. I believe throught Jesus Christ that this is all possible and with this written covenant with God it will come true. I write these words in the name of Jesus Christ. Amen. Yes!

09-21-2024 8:07 am Wow! I have no idea how the Lord will make a way for me but I have a ~~world~~ planet of faith that he will. Bills are due and unfortunately I fell short on my investments of a better life with more money but I will be redeemed. I am anxious to see what is next in my journey. I may be poor but I hope to find a partner with as much faith in the Lord God as me. I will continue to work hard so that I can have the opportunity to be a provider for the eternal companion that Lord God has for me. I do not think I am meant to travel alone in this world. I hope to go to the temple soon and experience what everyone has been telling me about. I have not talked, texted or emailed any of my relatives since 2021 and for some reason this does not bother me. I feel relief. I have told the missionaries about my past and some of the tragic trials I have been through. It seems like they actually care. I pray things will get better. I ~~say~~ write these words in the name of Jesus Christ. Amen. Vi Ses!

. Just remembered I downloaded an app to share my eyesight with the blind back in May. It's September and I only received one call so far. I will take a break and possibly go back at a later day. However today I got down on my knees and prayed to the Lord God for the Holy Ghost to comeover me and protect me throughout my days. I also received an invite to Rebecca Chavez's wedding. This is the first ever peer to peer invite to a wedding that I have ever received. I'm excited and I cannot wait to enjoy their day with them. I hope to get married and seal and send cool invites to to Rebecca and Jaron as well as others in the Church. I'm excited and I have high hopes of what is to come, Vi Ses!

General conference was an absolute spectacular event. I arrived at the Saturday afternoon session. From there the talks were amazing. I took down notes and will review them soon. I have transferred my records to the singles ward. In other news, life is a disaster, However with the grace of God I can only get better says the word. I didn't actually have a reason to write here today but just an update.

I really don't like when this happens. But yesterday I were explaining my history and I misspoke. This has happened to me before, where I get on a streak of goodness and then something that seems like a lie seems to slip into casual conversation or something else odd to end the streak. But I were talking w/ Adam and I explained that I needed help paying for college and my dad didn't want to pay for the university that I wanted to attend. My father actually just wanted me to go to JSU but I did not want to go. He never mentioned paying for any of it. I misspoke because I said that he wanted me to go to JSU cause he would not pay for USM. Ugh this is annoying and someone is blasting loud music and it's 6 am.

There is a church dance happening. I am excited to go. ~~However~~ I hope good things happen. I just arrived to membership in August but it would be nice to find a potential companion. I should relax and enjoy the friendship I'm upset because Lyft is being weird. There are tons of companies out there who are not good at privacy. I was hoping Lyft would not be one of them. It seems to me that the workforce is basically and umbrella corporation divided into private and public. There may be a ~~few~~ hybrid but this doesn't matter that much. I want to protect myself so that I can save and have a potential future but these companies do not seem to play fair. I purchased my ccw today. I may soon be a gun owner and be just a little more safe than the average consumer. I need to figure out how to survive the next five to ten years so then I can start to pull cash value from my retirement account. That will give me some breathing room.

A companion that would like to be friends and stick it out through tough times could make this journey much better. Mattie Grace would have, I'm sure of it. I was thinking about after my lease is up, I move to Washington. Possibly Idaho to get a new city and scenery could open new opportunities. Nevada is starting to remind of living in the south. But I'm possibly overthinking. Things are brutal and I'm just attempting to stay afloat on the lazy river. I for sure need to make more money or passive dividends. Totally stressing. Vi SES!

11-24-2024 9:44pm I don't remember what I last talked about but wow life is in explainable almost. I received a patriarchal blessing. It is choc full of good tidings that will help me in life. I absolutely love spending time with the missionaries. I need to keep reading the Book of Mormon and analyzing the text. The prophets have thought about me since the beginning. Today is Thanksgiving I'm thankful for having food, shelter, and income. I'm probably going to buy a new journal.
